

SELF-REPRESENTED LITIGANTS CAN NOW prepare court documents and file cases online

3 Easy Steps

- 1 Answer online questions to prepare the case filing.
- 2 Automatically create legal documents for free.
- 3 File the case online or print the documents to file in person with the clerk of court.

Certain case types available

Self-represented litigants can now use Odyssey Guide & File™, a free online service available to create and file court forms. Guide & File is an easy-to-use application to help self-represented litigants generate legal documents for certain types of case filings. Working much like popular tax preparation software, it guides users through a series of questions to automatically generate and file court forms. As a web-based tool, it offers self-represented litigants the flexibility of completing interviews anytime, from anywhere. It can also reduce the number of erroneous filings for the court and decrease staff time spent answering self-represented litigants' questions.
